D. APPLETON & CO.'S NEW BOOKS.

Pioneers of Evolution,

From Thales to Huxley. By EDWARD CLODD, author of "The Story of Creation," "The Story of 'Primitive' Man," etc. With portraits. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

This book attempts to tell the story of the origin of the Evolution idea in the works of the ancient philosophers and its elaboration by Lucretius; its eclipse during the Middle Ages under the supremacy of ecclesiastical dogmas; and its renaissance about A.D. 1600, under the influence of discovery and Lord Bacon's philosophy. It then shows how new conceptions of the earth's history were suggested by the study of Geology, and of the history of life by Biology. It narrates the building up of the doctrine of Evolution by Spencer—who formulated the theory as a whole the year preceding the publication of the Origin of Species—Darwin, and Huxley. Reviewing the present condition of the question as to man and mind, it finally points out how the "Pioneers of Evolution" have led us "by ways undreamed of at the start to a goal undreamed of by the earliest of them."

The Beginnings of Art.

By ERNST GROSSE, Professor of Philosophy in the University of Freiburg. A new volume in the Anthropological Series, edited by Prof. Frederick Starr. Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, $1.75.

This is an inquiry into the laws which control the life and development of art, and into the relations existing between it and certain forms of civilization. The origin of an artistic activity should be sought among the most primitive peoples, like the native Australians, the Mincopies of the Andaman Islands, the Botocudos of South America, and the Eskimos; and with these alone the author studies his subject. Their arts are regarded as a social phenomenon and a social function, and are classified as arts of rest and arts of motion. The arts of rest comprise decoration, first of the body by scarification, painting, tattooing, and dress; and then of implements, painting and sculpture; while the arts of motion are the dance (a living sculpture), poetry or song, with rhythm, and music.

Ancient Greek Literature.

By GILBERT MURRAY, M.A., Professor of Greek in the University of Glasgow. The first volume in the Literatures of the World Series, edited by Edmund Gosse, Hon. M.A. of Trinity College. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

The books of this important new series are written by authors of eminence who are distinguished not only by their special knowledge but also by their literary skill and charm of style, and their experience in writing for the general public. Each book will present a critical and historical résumé adapted to the requirements of students, and entertaining to the general reader. Dr Murray's high rank as an authority upon the subject of Greek literature, and his tact in the interesting presentation of his subject impart a peculiar value to his work.

A Spotless Reputation.

By DOROTHEA GERARD, author of "The Wrong Man," "An Arranged Marriage," etc. No. 213, Town and Country Library. 12mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

This is a novel of importance and special interest by an always popular writer. Her books are invariably readable and entertaining.

Perfection City.

By Mrs. ORPEN, author of "Margareta Colberg," "Mr. Adolf," etc. No. 212, Town and Country Library. 12mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

The scene of this story is laid in Kansas, and the reader is introduced to various novel phases of life. The studies of curious character and the dramatic incidents which are presented impart a freshness and a lively interest which will receive general appreciation.

THIRD EDITION . . . .

TROOPER PETER HALKET OF MASHONALAND

16mo, cloth, $1.25

She tries to do for England what "H. H." did for America in her "Century of Dishonor"; she tries to show the barbarous cruelties which the English race has inflicted upon the natives of South Africa.

Peter Halket is a trooper belonging to the English army stationed in Africa, a man of the lowest ideas and ideals, who, in the course of the story, becomes completely changed in his moral condition.

It is written with passionate earnestness, with the same qualities of style, the same tremendous vigor that made her "African Farm" so interesting and powerful.

"Written in the true Christian spirit."—Chicago Tribune.

"A devoutly religious book."—Congregationalist.

"It is strong, inspired with a high purpose."—Chicago Post.

"Its execution is as strong as its conception is original."—Literary World.

"A wonderfully powerful story."—Buffalo Commercial.

BY THE SAME AUTHOR

THE STORY OF AN AFRICAN FARM

16mo, cloth, 60 cents

"A little book of unusual originality in scene and treatment. . . . There is strength, beauty, and flexibility in the style—long reaches of melodious prose, with the right word as a sign-board at every turn of the trail."—Life.

DREAMS

WITH PORTRAIT OF AUTHOR

16mo, cloth, - - 60 cents

"It is only after several readings that one comes to appreciate fully the beauty and the effectiveness of one of these allegories of life."—San Francisco Chronicle.

DREAM LIFE AND REAL LIFE

16mo, half cloth, 60 cents

"She takes the vital elements of life, love, trust, and self-sacrifice, and weaves them into tales bristling with action."—Literary World.

NOTES IN SEASON.

FREDERICK WARNE & Co. have just ready a volume of stories entitled "The Sign of the Wooden Shoon," by Marshall Mather, author of "Lancashire Idylls," etc.

D. APPLETON & COMPANY have just ready "Pioneers of Evolution from Thales to Huxley," by Edward Clodd; "Beginnings of Art," by Ernst Grosse, a new volume in the Anthropological Series; and new volumes in the Town and Country Library, including Dorothea Gerard's "A Spotless Reputation" and Mrs. Orpen's "Perfection City." The first volume is also ready of the important new series of Literatures of the World, edited by Edmund Gosse. It is devoted to "Ancient Greek Literature" and written by Prof. Gilbert Murray.

HARPER & BROTHERS have in preparation a posthumous volume by Henry C. Bunner to be brought out under the title of "Three Operettas." These compositions are respectively entitled "The Three Little Kittens of the Land of Pie," "The Seven Old Ladies of Lavender Town," and "Bobby Shaftoe." Oscar Weil has written the music for the book, which is illustrated. It is a book for children. They will publish next week W. D. Howells's latest novel, entitled "The Landlord at Lion's Head," with illustrations by W. T. Smedley.

R. H. RUSSELL & SON are about to publish a new book by Richard Harding Davis, entitled "Cuba in War Time," containing twenty-four full-page illustrations by Frederic Remington. The Pittsburg Post says: "There have been no such contributions to Cuban war history as those furnished by Richard Harding Davis." The story of the death of Rodriguez, which is given in this volume, will take its place as one of the best things that Mr. Davis has ever written. They have also just ready new and improved editions of Gibson's "Pictures of People," Wenzell's "In Vanity Fair," Kemble's Coon's," and "Posters in Miniature."

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS publish to-day "American Lands and Letters," by Donald G. Mitchell ("Ik Marvel"). It covers the literature of America from Captain John Smith to William Cullen Bryant, or, as its sub-title indicates, "from the Mayflower to Rip Van Winkle." Other books just ready are "The Builders, and other poems," by Rev. Henry Van Dyke; "Philip and Alexander of Macedon," two essays in biography by D. G. Hogarth, author of "A Wandering Scholar in the Levant"; and new editions of Prof. Charles A. Briggs's "The Higher Criticism of the Hexateuch" and of the "Presbyterian Book of Common Prayer," which is edited with a supplementary treatise by Charles W. Shields.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY announce a new book by Mrs. Steel, whose recent novel of the great mutiny, "On the Face of the Waters," has had such a phenomenal success. The new book is a Scotch story, entitled "In the Tideway," and it will no doubt meet a warm welcome from those who remember the author's "Red Rowans," which the Boston Transcript describes as "wholesome and sweet, and fresh as the moorland air itself." They have also in preparation a new volume by Shailer Matthews entitled "The Social Teachings of Jesus: an essay in Christian sociology," that is an amplification of a number of essays originally published in the American Journal of Sociology; a text-book entitled "Analytic Geometry for Technical Schools and Colleges," by P. A. Lambert, of Lehigh University; and a volume entitled "The Christian Ecclesia," consisting of a course of lectures and four sermons by the late Prof. Hort. They have just ready the "Statesman's Year-Book for 1897." J. Scott Keltie, the editor, has introduced a special feature, appropriate to the year of the Queen's Commemoration, of a series of maps illustrating the changes in political boundaries which have taken place during the sixty years of the Queen's reign. Statistical tables, exhibiting progress in various directions during the period have also been added.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

The heroine is offered as a new and strong type of the American woman. She is born in California of a disreputable mother and a Yankee father of considerable education. When her parents die she comes to New York, marries a rich man and leaves him when she finds she no longer loves him; engages in newspaper work, returns to nurse her husband through a serious illness, in which he dies from an overdose of morphine. She is accused of poisoning him, tried for her life, and though innocent, pronounced guilty. The lawyer who defends her learns to love her deeply and exhausts every method to save her. She is already in the electric chair at Sing Sing, when a woman's confession snatches her from death.

A boon companion of the Regent introduced to the reader as Lord George Hell, and represented as a gambler and a thief, is the hero. He falls in love with a little actress, who repulses him in his true character, saying she "can never be the wife of any man whose face is not saintly." At this point the story becomes a fairy-tale. Lord George has a mask made of a good man for his face and again woos the little actress. They live happily together till a rival tears the mask from his face, which it is found has become as saintly as the mask.

Clark, F: Thickstun, ["Frederick Thickstun," pseud.] The mistress of the ranch: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1897. c. 2+357 p. D. cl., $1.25. [1009

The distinctive quality of this novel, aside from the plot, is the local color of life and manners in the far western ranch country, and the descriptions of scenery. The story opens at a railway station in Colorado, where two sisters have just arrived from the east to take possession of their dead brother's ranch, which he has left to his sister Anny. Anny, however, is so quiet and retiring that the other sister, Phoebe Ellen, is always thought to be the heir. Out of this mistake arise the incidents of the story, which include two love-stories and an attempted poisoning.

ican claimant" of an English earldom, is the same visionary, kind-hearted, unpractical man who appeared in "The gilded age." Besides "The American claimant" there are five short stories grouped as "Merry tales," and a number of others under the heading "The £1,000,000 bank-note, and other stories," which have been read in the periodicals.

*Clouston, T. Smith, M.D. Clinical lectures on mental diseases. 4th ed. rev. [Also] Laws of the United States on the custody of the insane, by C. Follen Folsom. Phil., Lea Bros. & Co., 1897. 736 p. il. pl. 8°, cl., $4.75. [1011]

Craig, R. Manifold. The sacrifice of fools. N. Y., F. A. Stokes Co., [1897.] c. '96. 2+309 p. D. buckram, $1. [1012]

The scenes are laid in England and in India; Mrs. Rutherglen and her daughter Salome quarrel over Salome's determination to marry a man to whom her mother is opposed; the latter being justly incensed, vows never to leave the house until her daughter complies with her wishes; Salome being also obstinate marries the man; this mutual sacrifice is termed "the sacrifice of fools." Passages of Salome's life in India show the effects of sacrifice as practised in the jungle by the ape worshippers. The purpose of the novel seems to be to show the folly of ill-judged sacrifice.

Grimshaw, Beatrice Ethel. Broken away. N. Y., J: Lane, 1897. c. 3+295 p. D. cl., $1.50. [1031]

The scene is Dublin, Ireland, and the chief character a leading Irish novelist. Stuart Rivington's most honest critic is his wife, and when she tells him that his latest novel is not up to the mark he believes her. To gain new inspiration and change of scene he breaks away from the conventional life of Dublin, and with his wife and cousin takes possession of a tiny cottage on the Wicklow Mountains. His life is attempted by a rival novelist who has become insane, and his beautiful cousin reopens an old love-affair. Under these exciting influences he again writes a successful novel.

Hall, C. Cuthbert, D.D., Allen, Alex. Viets Griswold, D.D., Smyth, Egbert Coffin, D.D., [and others] Christian worship:

ten lectures delivered in the Union Theological Seminary, New York, in the autumn of 1896. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1897. c. 8+338 p. D. cl., $1.50. [1032]

Contents: The principles of Christian worship, by C: Cuthbert Hall, D.D.; Primitive Christian liturgies, by A. V. G. Allen, D.D.; The Greek liturgies, by Egbert C. Smyth, D.D.; The Roman liturgies, by C: C. Tiffany, D.D.; The Lutheran liturgies, by H. Eyster Jacobs, D.D.; The liturgies of the reformed churches, by W. Rupp, D.D.; The book of common prayer, by W: R. Huntington, D.D.; The book of common order and the directory for worship, by Allan Pollok, D.D.; Worship in non-liturgical churches, by G: Dana Boardman, D.D.; The ideal of Christian worship, by T S. Hastings, D.D.

Hamerton, Philip Gilbert. The mount: narrative of a visit to the site of a Gaulish city on Mount Beuvrey; with a description of the neighboring city of Autun. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1897. c. 8+213 p. por. D. cl., $2. [1033]

The city here described by Mr. Hamerton was built by the Gauls before the Roman invasion; it was a hill-side city full of rare treasures of art, possessing more than two hundred buildings in a perfect state of preservation, in which were found many portable objects, such as coins, pottery, jewelry, etc. The excavator of this city had been working in it for eight years. He is called the "Antiquary" in the book, and is often Mr. Hamerton's host. Their delightful evenings together, their walks and drives, in which literature, art, and legends of the past are discussed, are full of information.

Hardy, T: The well-beloved: a sketch of a temperament; with an etching by H. Macbeth-Raeburn. N. Y., Harper, 1897. c. 5+339 p. map, D. cl., $1.50. [1034]

A Wessex character story, with the scenes located partly in London but largely in the "Isle of Slingers," in South Wessex, England, on the English Channel. Jocelyn Pierston, a young man of twenty, a sculptor of promise, is in pursuit of an intangible form which he calls the "well-beloved"; it takes up its or her abode in one woman's form after another, leading Pierston to love many, but none for long.

*Howe, Herbert A. Elements of descriptive astronomy: a text-book. Bost., Silver, Burdett & Co., 1897. c. 12+340 p. il. pl. maps, 8°, cl., $1.36. [1038]

Hurst, Julius H. Stephen Lescombe, bachelor of arts. N. Y., G: P. Putnam's Sons, 1897. c. 4+275 p. D. cl., $1.50. [1039]

Stephen Lescombe at the age of twenty-three is forced to give up his study for the ministry and take a position as tutor in one of the most beautiful spots on the English coast. The family consists of his pupil, a boy of seventeen, a very conventional mother, and an unconventional, very sensible and womanly daughter. Circumstances work at cross-purposes, and Stephen loses his place and after many trials his faith in all things. The end is a surprise and a sad one.

Jókai, Maurus. Eyes like the sea: a novel; from the Hungarian, by R. Nisbet Bain. N. Y., G: P. Putnam Sons, 1897. 14+396 p. D. (Hudson lib., no. 19.) cl., $1; pap., 50 c. [1040]

Lefroy, E: Cracroft. Edward Cracroft Lefroy: his life and poems, including a reprint of "Echoes from Theocritus"; by Wilfrid Austin Gill; with a critical estimate of the sonnets, by the late J: Addington Symonds. N. Y., J: Lane, 1897. 14+199 p. por. D. cl., $1.50. [1043]

Edward Cracroft Lefroy was born in London, March 29, 1825 and died Sept. 19, 1891. He was educated for the church, and did earnest work in two different parishes in London; ill-health forced him to resign his office. His brief life was noteworthy for its literary prolificness; he wrote poetry, published volumes of sermons and semi-scientific papers. His poems published in 1884 and 1885 attracted little general attention. After his death Mr. Symonds accidentally had his attention called to his work, and saw in him a genuine poet. All of Lefroy's poems are here reprinted, with Gill's sympathetic memoir, and Symonds's "Critical estimate."

*Le Van, W: Barnet. The practical management of engines and boilers; including boiler-setting, pumps, injectors, feed-water heaters, steam-engine economy, condensers, indicators, slide valves, safety valves, governors, steam gages, incrustation and corrosion, etc.; a practical guide for engineers and firemen, and steam users generally. - Nansen, Fridtjof. Farthest north: being the record of a voyage of exploration of the ship Fram, 1893-96, and of fifteen months' sleigh journey by Dr. Nansen and Lieut. Johansen; with an appendix by Otto Sverdrup. N. Y., Harper, 1897. c. 2 v., 10+587; 7+714 p. pors. map, il. 8°, cl., $10. [1057]
 Dr. Nansen penetrated farther north than any previous Arctic explorer. Besides the immense value of his observations to physical geography, biology, and meteorology, his voyage determined that the Polar Sea is a deep basin and not a shallow body of water, covered, as supposed, with many islands. His work is divided into three parts: the first is taken up with Dr. Nansen's departure and the life of the whole party on the Fram previous to the great sledge journey; the second tells the story of the sledge party, led by Dr. Nansen across trackless ice-fields, during fifteen months of darkness; the third part is the history of the Fram during Nansen's absence, taken from the diaries of Capt. Sverdrup. Profusely illustrated from photographs taken on the expedition and with sixteen original colored illustrations of Arctic sunsets and aurora borealis effects from chalk drawings by Dr. Nansen.
- *Ohio. Supreme ct. Reports of cases; rep. by Emilius O. Randall, supreme ct. rep. New ser. V. 54, [Jan. term, 1896.] Norwalk, The Laning Print. Co., 1897. c. 24+715 p. O. shp., $2.50. [1058]
- Parker, Gilbert. The pomp of the Lavillettes. Bost., Lamson, Wolfe & Co., [1897.] c. '96. 4+191 p. S. buckram, $1.25. [1059]
 A Canadian story, introducing some of the events of the French-Canadian insurrection of 1837, of which Papineau was one of the leaders. The Lavillettes were a family of the parish of Bonaventure, with social ambitions. The Hon. Tom Ferrol, an Irish adventurer, is their guest for awhile; he betrays to the English government that Nic Lavillette is active in the rebellion, and plays a dishonorable part to Madame Lavillette's two daughters.
- Parker, Jos., D.D. Might have been: some life notes. N. Y., F. A. Stokes Co., [1897.] c. '96. 10+309 p. D. cl., $1.25. [1060]
 Reminiscences of notable people, with some imaginary interviews, in which are described happenings which "might have been." Among numerous names that figure in the volume are those of H. Ward Beecher, Bright, Gladstone, Disraeli, Dean Stanley, J. B. Gough, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Mark Twain, Spurgeon, George Eliot, Henry Irving, and others. There are also a number of comments on people, things, and life.
- Parrish, Herbert, comp. The little directory of worship: a book of prayers for the young; with hymns. Phil., J. Jos. McVey, 1897. c. 93 p. il. S. buckram, net, 35 c. [1061]
 For the ritualistic party in the Protestant Episcopal church; directions chiefly for young people for daily worship, for confession, and for the mass. Followed by a number of hymns.
- *Pennsylvania. Supreme ct. Reports, v. 178, by Wilson C. Kress, st. rep. Cont. cases decided at Oct. term, 1896, and Jan. term, 1897. N. Y. and Alb., Banks & Bros., 1897. c. 20+688 p. O. shp., $3.50. [1062]
- Plympton, A. G. A willing transgressor, and other stories. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1897. c. 6+244 p. D. cl., $1.25. [1063]
Contents: A willing transgressor; The scandal of Scarborough; A case of conscience; A question in ethics; Hardly guilty; A strange bargain. These stories are not for children, as are most of Miss Plympton's tales. They are chiefly incidents in the everyday life of the people of an eastern state.
- Raymond, Walter, ["Tom Cobbleigh," pseud.] Charity Chance. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1896. c. '96. 4+256 p. D. cl., $1.25. [1064]
 The love-story of a young English girl, adopted as a baby by a wealthy single woman, who is a cripple. "Charity," wishing to please her patroness, accepts her nephew, for whom at first she has only a sincere liking. A modern poet of the pessimistic school for a time claims her regard, and "Charity" begins to write and becomes a famous novelist. The poet's lack of principle and the innate nobility of her benefactress's nephew are potent factors in her story.
- Reeve, Ja. Knapp. The three Richard Whalens: a story of adventure; il. by E. Frederick. N. Y., F. A. Stokes Co., [1897.] c. 2+231 p. il. nar. S. (Twentieth century ser.) cl., 75 c. [1065]
 The story of the search for an island in the Caribbean Sea, upon which treasure was supposed to have been buried by pirates. The search is made by two young New York society men, one being the third

Richard Whalen, who only discovers after his thirtieth year that his grandfather, who had left him his wealth, had been a buccaneer.

Revolutionary tendencies of the age; their cause and their ultimate aim. N. Y., G: P. Putnam's Sons, 1897. c. 3+171 p. O. cl., $1.25. [1066]

Contents: A survey of the existing state of things in respect to the division of the good and fair things of this world; An inquiry into the cause of the existing state of things; The diffusion of knowledge and the revolution it is producing; Premonitory signs; Modern Democracy the result of the diffusion of knowledge; The triumph of Democracy, so far, a triumph of mere forms; The tendencies of the times point to the substantial triumph of Democracy; What course shall enlightened Democracy follow?; The principle of rewards; The necessity of restriction; Conclusion.

Sangster, Mrs. Marg. Eliz. Munson. Easter bells: poems. N. Y., Harper, 1897. c. 8+144 p. il. S. cl., $1.25. [1067]

A number of lyrics in this volume are devoted to the Easter season. There are, besides, verses on familiar themes of home and hearth, as "When Polly played for dancing," "Love's kingdom," and "Wedded hands," etc.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

APRIL 3, 1897.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, must reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of "The American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of all trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE BOOK TARIFF AGAIN.

THE official text of the clause for the free list adopted by the Ways and Means Committee, given elsewhere in full, amends the Dingley bill as originally brought before Congress, in an ineffective and unsatisfactory way, besides being so ambiguous as directly to invite trouble in construction. By placing the phrase "scientific apparatus" before the word "books" in the amendment, it is made uncertain whether or not the free entry of books for educational institutions is restricted to scientific books or is made comprehensive. If the committee meant to make books in general free of duty under such conditions of import, the paragraph would naturally read "books, charts, scientific apparatus," etc. Whether the language of the paragraph is an oversight or purposed, it should at any rate be made clear, so that all concerned may know what is intended and what will be the effect of the law.

The proviso in the amendment that such books shall only be free from duty if not published in the United States also opens a vast field of useless misunderstanding. It is by no means clear whether this means that the same book must be published in the United States, or a book that will serve the same purpose, or a book of the same general class. The only good that could come out of this paragraph would be a considerable extension of the subscription list of the publications of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY Office—for certainly every customs officer in the United States should be furnished with the bibliographical information necessary to determine the vexed questions that will arise. But this advantage we shall cheerfully waive in behalf of the educational interests at large.

The friends of education, including the book trade, will scarcely be satisfied with this "sop to Cerberus." It is the general feeling, as well among protectionists as among free traders, that the tariff duties on books should not be increased, and the outcome will not be satisfactory unless the provisions of the last tariff are continued in the new bill. At most, Congress should go no further than a return to the free list in the McKinley bill, the only difference between this and the Wilson tariff now in force being that publications of foreign governments and those containing scientific observations were dutiable under the McKinley bill and were made free under the Wilson bill. Probably the only real question as to the abuse of the free list in regard to books is in the criticism that school text-books and the like have to some extent been imported duty free as containing scientific observations. As publications of foreign governments are imported mostly for the use of our own government or for incorporated institutions, the free list changes in the Wilson bill were of secondary importance, and it matters comparatively little, therefore, whether or not the committee return to the McKinley schedule in this particular.

It is to be hoped that the modifications of the bill in the Senate will make it more satisfactory to the friends of education and intelligence.

AMENDMENT TO THE DINGLEY BILL.

THE Dingley Tariff bill passed the House, March 31, by a vote of 205 against 122. Scarcely less important than the passage of the bill itself was the adoption of the committee amendment proposing to make the measure retroactive by making the new duties go into effect on all goods imported into the United States after April 1, provided they were not in transit or ordered shipped before that date.

The following is the official text of the amendment to the tariff bill adopted by the ways and means committee on the subject of books and apparatus:

"Scientific apparatus, instruments, books, charts, and chemicals, such as are not published or made in the United States, when expressly imported in good faith by and for the use of any regularly established or incorporated university, college, academy, school, seminary of learning, or free public library, not intended for sale, and the Secretary of the Treasury shall make suitable regulations to carry out the intent of this paragraph."

A BOOKWORM FULL OF GUILF.

IN one of the downtown streets is a big second-hand book-store, the proprietor of which, according to a writer in the New York Sun, "makes a practice of buying up private libraries of a few hundred volumes. Frequently it happens that he thus comes into possession of rare editions, but as he knows nothing of books himself beyond the value of the volume judged by its paper, print, and binding, these rarities usually go at very small prices to those having knowledge of such things. A few bibliophiles make frequent visits to this store, and from the mass of cheap stuff, occasionally pick out a treasure. One of these visitors in particular has made a little collection at very small cost from the book-store. The proprietor did not know him until recently as a collector, and it would, perhaps, be better for the store's business if he never had made the discovery.

"The discovery took place in this wise. A friend of the proprietor who knew the bibliophile saw him one day mousing about in a pile of newly acquired second-hand books and directed the proprietor's attention to him.

"Do you know who that thin, bald man with the eyeglasses is?"

"Don't know him from Adam," replied the bookseller, "except that he comes in here now and then and pays me a dollar or two for books that I'd be glad to get rid of at any price."

"The more fool you," said the other bluntly. "Has he bought anything to-day?"

"Jim is wrapping up a couple of bits of trash he's just bought. Here, Jim, let's see those books."

"How much did he pay for those?" inquired the adviser, after looking at the books.

"Dollar'n a quarter apiece," said the salesman.

"And they would be cheap at $25 for the two," said the other. "That old chap is one of the smartest collectors in town. Anything that he wants to buy is worth money. You may be sure of that."

"The old sneak!" ejaculated the bookseller. "I'll be even with him yet. Why, he must have cheated me out of hundreds of dollars. And I've been thinking all the while that I was doing him, because I made 100 per cent. or so on everything I sold to him."

"When next time the bibliophile came to the store to make some purchases he discovered a remarkable advance in prices, so great in some cases as to exceed greatly the real value of the book. With everything he sought to buy the case was the same. He went away without buying anything and came back a week later only to find the same prevailing conditions. Repeated visits led him to the conclusion that the proprietor of the place was profiting by the advice of somebody who knew the value of rare editions. Then a sudden suspicion of the true nature of the case struck him, and he resolved to act upon it. Meantime the bookseller was rejoicing at the defeat of the despoiler.

"I've fixed him," he said to the man who had given him the advice. "Every book he's wanted to buy I've marked up to a big price, just about what it's worth, I guess, and I'll likely sell 'em at those prices. But he won't buy 'em. No; he's too stingy to pay a decent price for anything."

"A few days later the bibliophile came in and the proprietor himself waited upon him. Acting on a well-defined plan the book-lover rummaged about until he came upon a worn and soiled copy of one of the 'Rollo' books, probably once the nucleus about which a Sunday-school library had grown up. The book might have been worth fifteen cents if anybody wanted it very badly, but the expressions of admiration which the bibliophile let fall were such as to lead the innocent bookseller to suppose it a rare and valuable acquisition.

"Beautiful edition; beautiful," said the expert, blowing the dust from the edges. "Exquisite workmanship. Ah, here is an autograph inscription on the fly-leaf, apparently done in a childish hand. Where are my glasses? Ah, yes. I can make it out with some difficulty. 'I—have—read—this—book—and—it—is—bum. Signed, J. M. S.' H'm, very interesting! Very! I should like to add this book to my collection. How much is this?"

"That book will cost you $50," replied the proprietor promptly.

"Ah; just so. That is a little more than I feel I can afford just at present. May I ask where you got the volume and whether you have any more like it?"

"Bought it from a collector who had to sell out," said the mendacious proprietor. "I've got a dozen or so of them, and I guess they'll go like hot cakes as soon as I put 'em out where they can be seen."

"Undoubtedly, undoubtedly," agreed the other. "I hope that one, at least, will remain until I feel myself justified in expending so much upon it."

"Thereupon he went on until he came to a pile of Congressional Records; value, one cent per pound. The proprietor followed, watching every movement.

"What's this?" said the customer, as he caught sight of the pile. "Congressional Records, and of the— Upon my soul, sir, you are fortunate! You have that rare edition of 1881. A treasure, sir; a veritable treasure!" He ran over the pamphlets hastily. "It appears to be a full set, too. Of course this set is far beyond my means, and I couldn't ask you to break into it by selling me two or three of the pamphlets which might come within reach of my purse. Ah, if I were only rich!"

"The storekeeper made a mental note of the Congressional literary output, leaving his handkerchief on the pile so that he might make no mistake. Thence the book-lover led him to several other worthless volumes, the value of which the proprietor noted. After wandering about for half an hour the expert departed with many lamentations over his personal financial stringency, and made his way to the nearest place wherein he might treat himself immoderately to drinks, the bartender serving the drinks with fear and hesitation because of the suspicious manner in which the customer hugged himself and cackled in glee.

"Since then the bibliophile goes frequently to the book-shop, but buys naught. He looks at many volumes; so many that the book-merchant can't begin to note half of them, and having observed any editions of value he notes their location and sends a commissioner to purchase them at small prices. Whenever he passes a certain set of 'Rollo' books marked 'This rare edition at $500 for the set of one dozen, or $50 apiece,' or a pile of conspicuously displayed

Congressional Records, announced to an interested public as 'Great historical value! Cheap at $225,' he is afflicted with severe attacks of coughing. And in the soul of the bookseller is a great and growing wonder that the rare editions, whose value he learned from such an indubitable source, are left to moulder on his shelves by an undiscerning public."

THE LOG OF THE MAYFLOWER TO BE RETURNED TO THE UNITED STATES.

THE Consistory Court of the Diocese of London, on March 25, has decided to restore the log of the Mayflower to the United States. At a hearing of the question in the old chapel of St. Paul's Cathedral it was stated that a precedent to this friendly act was to be found in the action of the Philadelphia Library in 1867 in restoring five manuscript volumes which were once part of the archives of England, for which Lord Romilly, the then Master of the Rolls, formally expressed the deep thanks of the English.

The Chancellor of the Diocese, Dr. Thomas H. Tristran, read a long judgment, during which he set forth that the log was a part of large numbers of manuscripts in Fulham Palace relating to the English possessions in American colonies which, before the Declaration of Independence, formed part of the Diocese of London.

In the history of the diocese, the Chancellor continued, there was but one precedent to a petition such as this on the ground that it was a matter of public interest. In 1853, he explained, Lord John Russell petitioned the Diocese of London to restore to France the will and codicils of Napoleon I. The present application differed from that of Lord Russell, because of the log of the Mayflower being a register of births, marriages, and deaths, and because it concerned the property of the descendants of the Pilgrims. In closing, the Chancellor said: "I order, on the undertaking given by Mr. Bayard to place the log in a fit place where persons concerned can have access thereto and a proper certificated copy being deposited at Fulham, that the original be given up to Mr. Bayard for transmission to the President of the United States, and that a copy of the judgment under seal be sent to the book whenever Mr. Bayard or some one from the United States Embassy can attend. In the meanwhile it will remain in the diocesan strong room."

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

DR. HENRY VAN DYKE writes to deny the statement that has been going the rounds of the press to the effect that he is preparing a volume of short stories.

THE Rev. Dr. William Bayard Hale, a young Episcopal clergyman of whom Bishop Phillips Brooks expected fine work, has written a new book entitled "The New Obedience: a plea for social submission to Christ," which will be published simultaneously in New York, London, and Bombay. Dr. Hale has lately written many articles in the magazines calculated to stir up the churches and make people realize how far short of ideal Christianity is the Christianity of priests and churches and of professing Christians.

BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATIONS.

THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE.

THE second annual banquet, as already announced, will take place on Tuesday evening, April 6, at the St. Denis Hotel, 799 Broadway, New York City. The arrangements for the entertainment have been completed and promise an interesting and enjoyable evening. Dr. John S. Billings, superintendent of the New York Public Library, Henry Carey Baird, of Philadelphia, Mr. Marvin, of Charles Scribner's Sons, Ripley Hitchcock, of D. Appleton & Co., Charles E. Butler, of Brentano's, and Horace S. Ridings, of J. B. Lippincott Co., will be among the speakers. A string quintette, and George A. Fleming, a well-known baritone, will furnish the music.

The committee reports that the limit has been nearly reached in the sale of tickets. Those who have not yet made application will therefore do well to bespeak tickets at once, as it is not likely that provision can be made for late-comers.

It is a matter of general regret that the president of the League, J. N. Wing, will not be present at the banquet. Mr. Wing was taken ill about three weeks ago. He was able a few days ago only to leave his bed to take a trip South, where he may remain for several months.

The next "Smoker" of the League will be held in the new meeting-rooms at the Gramercy Lyceum, 117 West Twenty-third Street, April 16, at 8 P.M. Business of some importance is to come before the League, and it is requested that every member will make an effort to be present.

OBITUARY NOTES.

PROF. DANIEL SANDERS, the lexicographer, died in Strelitz, March 11, aged seventy-seven years. Dr. Sanders's chief labors have been in connection with his native tongue, beginning with his great quarto "Wörterbuch der deutschen Sprache" (1859-1865), which was succeeded by an extraordinary number of complementary dictionaries; but he began his authorship with a work on the "Folk-Life of the Modern Greeks" (1844), and in 1881 he returned to this people in his "Modern Greek Grammar," and in 1884 with his "History of Modern Greek Literature" (in connection with A. R. Rangabé).

MRS. MARGARET J. PRESTON, the well-known writer of Southern war poetry, died in Baltimore, March 28. Mrs. Preston was the second daughter of the Rev. Dr. George Junken, founder of Lafayette College, and was born in Pennsylvania in 1827. In 1857 she married Prof. J. T. S. Preston, of the Virginia Military Institute, who afterward served on Gen. Stonewall Jackson's staff with the rank of Colonel. Her sister, Eleanor, was Gen. Jackson's first wife. Among her best-known works are "Beechenbrook," "Old Songs and New," "Colonial Ballads," and "Aunt Dorothy." Mrs. Preston was known throughout the South as the "Mimosa of Southern Literature." As Miss Margaret Junken she began her literary career by contributing to the Southern Literary Messenger, when that periodical was under the charge of the late John R. Thompson.

WILLIAM TAYLOR ADAMS ("Oliver Optic") died on the morning of March 27 at his home in Dorchester, Mass. Mr. Adams was born in Medway, Mass., July 30, 1822. At an early age he taught school. From 1842 to 1845 he was principal of a grammar school in Dorchester, which position he resigned at the request of his father, who desired his assistance in the management of the Adams House, which had then risen upon the site of the old Lamb Tavern in Boston. In 1847 Mr. Adams entered the Boylston school as a teacher. A few years after he became submaster, and in 1859 he was appointed master of the school. At the organization of the Bowditch school for girls Mr. Adams was made its principal. He remained in this position until the year 1865, when he resigned to devote himself wholly to literary work, to which he was already fully committed. His career as an author did not fairly begin until he was thirty years of age. He did a great deal of writing before that, but it was rather for amusement than gain, and it was not until 1853 that publishers began to press orders upon him and offer sums which were commensurate with the merit of his writings. Mr. Adams published his first volume in 1853. It was entitled "Hatchie, the Guardian Slave, or, the heiress of Bellevue." It brought him the modest sum of $37.50. His next book, "In Doors and Out," was such a hit that his reputation was securely established and his fortune assured. Then publishers began to besiege him, eager to print his writings. So far his more pretentious efforts were for the general reading public. His distinctively juvenile stories came a few years later. When first asked to write a book for boys he declined to do so, declaring that he could not do such a thing. Being finally persuaded, however, he wrote "The Boat Club," which had a phenomenal success. Then began that remarkable line of books which included The Great Western series, the Yacht Club series, the Upward and Onward series, the Army and Navy series, the Starry Flag series, the Lake Shore series, and the Blue and Gray series. In all there are more than one hundred volumes of them. The selection of his pen-name came about in this way: A new play by a Boston gentleman was produced at the Museum, in which there was a character called "Doctor Optic." This name took Mr. Adams's fancy. At that time he was addicted to writing doggerel—he never called it poetry—for public occasions, and being in want of a signature he added the alliterative "Oliver" to the name in the play. He once signed a poem "Oliver Optic, M.D., of the Mutual Admiration Society." The pseudonym "Oliver Optic" became common after that. It was used in connection with three stories in The Waverley Magazine soon after it was chosen by the writer. In those days he wrote many satires on society, which were regarded as clever and effective in pointing out the foibles and weaknesses of the day. In 1865 Mr. Adams went abroad, and while travelling in Europe gathered the material for his Young America Abroad series. He became quite a traveller after that, going to Asia and Africa, besides visiting every country in Europe, from 1858 to 1866. Mr. Adams edited a magazine entitled Student and Schoolmate; from 1867 to 1875 he was the editor of Oliver Optic's Magazine—Our Boys and Girls. He also edited Our Little Ones for the Russell Publishing Co.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

R. F. FENNO & Co. will publish on May 1 "The Cedar Star," by Mary E. Mann, author of "Susannah." The work is described as "an intensely human love-story, showing much cleverness in the delineation of character."

GEORGE E. BRIGHTSON, manager of the Notion Department of the H. B. Claflin Co., has made arrangements to control the entire sale of the Standard Dictionary in Great Britain, France, and Germany.

THE PETER PAUL BOOK COMPANY, of Buffalo, announce the collected poems of the Rev. Dominic Brennan, C.P., now at Dunkirk, N. Y., which have appeared in many current publications under the pen-names of "D. O'Kelly Branden" and "Harlow Howe."

HINDS & NOBLE have purchased outright the well-known "Lessons in Psychology," by Dr. J. P. Gordy, head of the department of Pedagogy of the University of Ohio, Columbus, O. They will publish immediately the twentieth edition of this successful work.

BRIEFS were filed March 29 in Special Sessions by Anthony Comstock and Mr. Fiske in the case of Comstock vs. George H. Richmond—father and son. Both briefs were probably the most voluminous ever presented in the Special Sessions Court. Decision in the case was reserved.

THE marriage of Miss Frances Ford Benjamin, daughter of Mrs. George Hillard Benjamin, of New York City, to Charles Fellows Page, of Brookline, Mass., secretary of L. C. Page & Co., of Boston, will take place at the bride's home at four o'clock in the afternoon on Wednesday April 21.

THOMAS WHITTAKER will publish shortly Captain Hinde's book on the "Fall of the Congo Arabs." The author was attached to the expedition sent out by the Belgium Government a few years since under the command of Baron Dahnis, and his is the only account thus far published of a long conflict that ended in the complete overthrow of the Mohammedan power in the Congo Basin. The book is already in a third edition in London.

THE CONTINENTAL PUB. CO., of New York, announces "Tales of the Sun-Land," a new volume of Indian stories, by Verner Z. Reed, the author of "Lo-To-Kah," with illustrations by L. Maynard Dixon. The same house announces a metrical translation, by L. C. Van Noppen, of "Lucifer," the masterpiece of the great Dutch poet Vondel, whose influence on his contemporary Milton is still one of the problems of the history of letters.

WARD, LOCK & Co., LTD., will publish in a few weeks "The Manufacturers' Practical Up-to-Date Recipe-Book," by Lewis Jameson. The volume will contain nearly 3000 recipes for manufacturing all kinds and qualities of colors, paints, varnishes, japans, enamels, oils, greases, lubricants, soaps, etc., and for all manufactures connected with the allied trades, together with buyers' and sellers' simple and reliable tests for materials, adulterations, etc.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have just ready "The Choir Invisible," by James Lane Allen, dealing with the first appearance west of the Alleghanies of Anglo-Saxon types of civilization; and "The Port of Missing Ships and other stories," tales of a sailor's life by John R. Spears. "Laboratory Practice for Beginners in Botany," by William A. Setchell, and "An Introduction to Geology," by William B. Scott, present admirable general views of their subjects.

THE advance orders for Beatrice Harraden's "Hilda Strafford" in America have kept pace with the demand that is reported to have been felt for it in England. The English publishers are printing their eighth edition, and Dodd, Mead & Co., the American publishers, have felt a correspondingly large demand for it in America. The advance orders for "The Great K. & A. Train Robbery," Paul Leicester Ford's novel of adventure to be published by Dodd, Mead & Co. next week, have also been very heavy.

THE AMERICAN PUBLISHING CO., Hartford, Conn., announce that they have in preparation a new, and the only complete uniform edition of Mark Twain's works, to be sold exclusively by subscription. By special arrangement they will include in this set the volumes of Mark Twain which are published by Harper & Brothers. The volumes in this new set will not be sold separately by the American Publishing Co., but they will continue to sell the single volumes of their old editions, as Harper & Brothers will sell the single volumes which they now control. The American Publishing Co. will also publish next fall Mark Twain's forthcoming book describing his trip around the world.

HENRY G. ALLEN & Co., 156 Fifth Avenue, New York, have in preparation "The History of the Woman's Club Movement in America," by Mrs. J. C. Croly. The aim and scope of the work, according to the prospectus, "will be, first of all, a study of the forces that led up to the development of the woman's club idea. It will trace its beginnings—the work and character of its leaders; the evolution of the different forms of the local club; its adaptability and many-sidedness; the work and method of the 'Literary' club; the 'Study' club; the 'Civic' club; the 'Department' club; the 'Philanthropic' club; the 'Tourist' club; the 'Industrial' club; and many other forms of specialized club life." The work is published under the authority of the Council of the General Federation of Woman's Clubs.

THE suits against B. O. Flower, formerly editor of The Arena, and C. Selden Smart, the business manager, were dismissed, Judge Dewey finding for the defendants on every point. The second pretence alleged was that the company had in the year 1894 done a business of between $110,000 and $115,000. The court found that this representation was made by the defendants, and that it was true in fact. With regard to the alleged representation that the net profits of the company for the year 1894 were $6000, the court's finding was that the defendants did not make the representation, but that they did represent the profits for the year in question to be about $3400, and that such representation was true in fact. The alleged representation that all debts contracted and all notes and commercial paper made by the company had been made and discharged when the same had become due, was found to have been made by the defendants, and to have been true in fact. The last pretence alleged in the complaint was that the company in June, 1895, was financially solvent. The court found that the complainant had introduced no evidence whatever to show that such representation was made, but that, if made, it was true.

THOMAS Y. CROWELL & Co. have in preparation a new book by Miss Marshall Saunders, author of "Beautiful Joe," to be entitled "The King of the Park." The story owes its origin to Sergeant Hebard, of the Back Bay Park, Boston. Miss Saunders made the acquaintance of the sergeant, who interested her in his pets, especially "Boozy," the hero of the book. Upon describing them to Geo. T. Angell, president of the Humane Society, Miss Saunders was requested by him to put them into a story. The chief lessons of the story are kindness to dumb animals, and the importance of giving young children the right training. They announce the following additions to their series of booklets: "Ships and Havens," by the Rev. Dr. Henry Van Dyke; "The Christ-filled Life," by the Rev. Dr. Charles Cuthbert Hall, president-elect of the Union Theological Seminary; and "Heavenly Recognition," by the Rev. Dr. T. De Witt Talmage. They have completed arrangements for the publication, in the United States and Canada, of Dean Farrar's new book, "Men I Have Known." The volume will be made up of the Dean's reminiscences of Robert Browning, Tennyson, Arnold, Stanley, Darwin, Tyndall, Lowell, Whittier, Holmes, and many other famous men of England and America. It will be illustrated with portraits and fac-simile letters.

BUSINESS NOTES.

CHILLICOTHE, O.—Lyell & Christon have opened a book-store here.

CHICAGO, ILL.—On April 15 F. M. Morris will move his book-shop next door to his present location at 169 Madison Street; the new number will be 171. The new store contains twice the floor-space, and a distinguishing feature will be a "Den" with unique decorations, that is to serve as a rendezvous for the "Book-Lover's Clique."

NEW YORK CITY.—Dyrsen & Pfeiffer, successors to F. W. Christern, are removing to 429 Fifth Avenue.

NEW YORK CITY.—Willis Woodward & Co., music publishers, have been succeeded by Frank W. Woodward and H. L. Woodward under the same style.

NEW YORK CITY.—H. Mischke, for many years at 4 Barclay Street, has removed his collection of books and prints to No. 24 Clinton Place. Mr. Mischke's removal closes a rendezvous that has been known to book-lovers for over half a century. It was here that Bartlett & Welford were located for years. When they closed out Garrigue & Christern took possession of the store and remained until fire destroyed the premises. They were succeeded by booksellers less well known until Bonaventure took the shop. When Bonaventure went up-town he was succeeded by Mr. Mischke, who has occupied the store for nearly ten years.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal only on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

Just Ready

THE CHOIR INVISIBLE

By JAMES LANE ALLEN

AUTHOR OF

"Summer in Arcady," "A Kentucky Cardinal," "Aftermath," etc.

12mo, cloth, $1.50

The work will be a landmark in the history of American literature showing the revival here also of the historic sense in fiction which has been so marked across the sea. The story deals with the first appearance west of the Alleghenies of Anglo-Saxon types of civilization and is realistic as well as historic, at once fleshly and spiritual, since Mr. Allen has wrested from the old conditions a lesson always modern and always needed.

Stories of the Sailor's Life

THE PORT OF MISSING SHIPS

And Other Stories of the Sea

By JOHN R. SPEARS.

12mo, cloth, $1.25. Just ready.

Four stories of the sea which will be sure to interest those whose attention has been drawn to the sailor's life by the inimitable narrative of the writer of "On Many Seas."

ON MANY SEAS

The Life and Exploits of a Yankee Sailor

By FREDERICK BENTON WILLIAMS.

Edited by W. S. BOOTH. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"Every line of this hits the mark."—New York Tribune.

"A picture of the sailor's life as it has never been drawn before."—Providence News.

New Nature Readers in Preparation

THE HEART OF NATURE SERIES

By MABEL OSGOOD WRIGHT

AUTHOR OF

"Birdcraft," "Tommy-Anne, and the Three Hearts."

A series of readers which will provide answers for some, at least, of the "whys" which arise in active little minds during the out-of-door season.

I. Citizen Bird—(Bird Life for Beginners). By Mrs. MABEL OSGOOD WRIGHT and Dr. ELLIOTT COUES. With illustrations by L. A. Fuertes.

A guide, in a narrative form, to the principal species of North American birds, with chapters on anatomy, economic value, habits, etc., also a field key to same.

Ready in
April, 1897

II. Fourfooted Americans—(Some Native Animals). Edited by FRANK M. CHAPMAN. With numerous illustrations.

Man and his relation to and dependence on other animals—Food Animals, Fur and Hides, the Companionable Animals, Famous Native Animals, Mind versus Instinct, etc., etc.

Ready in September, 1897

New Books for the Student of Botany, Geology, etc.

LABORATORY PRACTICE FOR BEGINNERS IN BOTANY

By WM. A. SETCHELL, Ph.D., Prof. of Botany in the University of California.

200 pages, 16mo, cloth, 90 cents.

The aim of the work is to cultivate making careful and accurate observations, and the proper inference therefrom; also to lead the student to take an interest in the phenomena of nature for his further development.

AN INTRODUCTION TO GEOLOGY

By WM. B. SCOTT, Professor of Geology and Palæontology, Princeton University.

570 pages, 12mo, cloth, $1.90, net.

An admirable general view of the subject, for those who wish to lay a reliable, fairly proportioned foundation for later specialization, and for those who do not expect to do further work along these lines yet wish that knowledge of the fundamental principles of the science essential to any good education.

New Volumes in THE TEMPLE CLASSICS Series

Under the General Supervision of ISRAEL GOLLANCZ, M.A.,

Editor of "The Temple Shakespeare," the Publishers of that dainty edition are preparing a new Series. They hope to include the great masterpieces of English Literature; but it will not be limited in scope. Each work will be printed in full, with no Introductory matter; Glossarial Indexes, or brief Bibliographies, give needed Notes. The Volumes will appear, it is hoped, two a month, in cloth at 50 cents each, and limp leather at 75 cents each.

VOLUMES NOW READY

Southey's Life of Nelson.
Browne's Religio Medici.
Wordsworth's Prelude.
Gulliver's Travels.

Lamb's Essays of Elia.
Lamb's Last Essays of Elia.
Bacon's Essays.
Malory's Morte d'Arthur, Vol. I.

Malory's Morte d'Arthur, Vol. II.
Florio's Montaigne, Vol. I.

Others to follow.

PUBLISH TO-DAY:

AMERICAN LANDS AND LETTERS,

From the Mayflower to Rip Van Winkle. By DONALD G. MITCHELL. With 90 illustrations. 12mo, $2.50.

Mr. Mitchell is so widely known that the advent of a new book by him is a notable event. This latest volume covers the literature of our country from Captain John Smith to William Cullen Bryant. The author has for many years made a special study of the fountain-heads of American letters, and this wide and intimate scholarship has combined with his personal knowledge of most of the great literary figures of half a century ago, to create a peculiarly understanding and comprehensive sympathy with his subject. The illustrations comprise a really remarkable collection of portraits and views, many of them exceedingly rare.

THE BUILDERS,

And Other Poems. Elegantly bound in gilt vellum. By Rev. HENRY VAN DYKE, D.D. 12mo, $1.50.

This book of collected verse will have a great interest for all Dr. Van Dyke's readers as the first volume of poetry that has come from his pen. The title poem has been characterized by Prof. Edward Dowden as "a permanent contribution to English literature."

John Burroughs says of the bird poems which are included in this volume: "Nothing truer to life has been written on these themes in this country."

PRESBYTERIAN BOOK OF COMMON PRAYER.

Edited, with a Supplementary Treatise, by CHARLES W. SHIELDS, D.D., LL.D. 12mo, $1.50, net.

This is a new edition of Professor Shields's well-known compilation. The Supplementary Treatise contains an admirable historical review of the growth of the Prayer-Book and a cogent argument in favor of the adoption of such a liturgy in the Presbyterian Church.

PHILIP AND ALEXANDER OF MACEDON.

Two Essays in Biography. By D. G. HOGARTH, Oxford University. With map and illustrations. 12mo, $1.50.

This volume, by the author of "A Wandering Scholar in the Levant," is written in the most modern spirit from original sources, and wholly transcends the traditional biographies in convincing life likeness. The portraits of Philip and of Alexander are drawn with the utmost vigor, and the impressive, and at times poetic, style of the book gives it a truly classic character.

THE HIGHER CRITICISM OF THE HEXATEUCH.

By Prof. C. A. BRIGGS, D.D. Crown 8vo, $2.50.

This new edition of Prof. Briggs's work represents a large amount of labor in thorough going revision of the book and in numerous additions of new material both in the body of the work and in the appendices.

A brilliant story of modern London, dealing with occult science.

THE JESSAMY BRIDE. A Novel. By F. FRANKFORT MOORE, author of "I Forbid the Banns," "Phyllis of Philistia," "The Sale of a Soul," etc. 12mo, $1.50.

A novel of great interest, introducing as its chief characters, Goldsmith, Johnson, Garrick, and Sir Joshua Reynolds.

THE IMPUDENT COMEDIAN AND OTHERS. By F. FRANKFORT MOORE. Illustrated. 12mo, $1.50.

This is really a companion volume to "The Jessamy Bride." Bright, witty short stories about Nell Gwynn, Kitty Clive, David Garrick, and Dr. Johnson.

ALSO THE TENTH THOUSAND OF

CHECKERS. A Hard-Luck Story. By HENRY M. BLOSSOM, Jr., author of "The Documents in Evidence." 16mo, $1.25.

TWO NOTEWORTHY NOVELS

Ready First Week in April

Hilda Strafford

A California Story. By BEATRICE HARRADEN, author of "Ships that Pass in the Night." With Illustrations by Eric Pape.

12mo, Cloth, $1.25.

This is the first novel Miss Harraden has written since her memorable "Ships that Pass in the Night." It is a story of Californian life and depicts the scenes in which Miss Harraden has, for the last year or two, been living. It is a charming story and written with fine literary and artistic appreciation. Miss Harraden, during her sojourn in the West, has been much impressed by the homesickness of those who have sought to create a new home and fairer prospects out on the Californian ranches. The forlorn feeling that overtakes the exile; the quickened sense of remembered joys, intensified by the imagination amid the loneliness of the life; the self-sacrificing toil of years—out of materials like these Miss Harraden has constructed a tragic tale of vivid power and fresh interest. It is a phase of California life which has until now remained untouched.

The Great "K. & A." Train Robbery

By PAUL LEICESTER FORD, author of "The Hon. Peter Sterling," "The Story of an Untold Love," etc., etc.

12mo, Cloth, with Frontispiece, $1.25.

A novel that is admirable reading, for it is sure to rouse the interest of the most listless reader and to keep him on tenter-hooks to the happy ending, when all the mystery and complications are satisfactorily settled. The story is entitled "The Great K. & A. Train Robbery." It is of course a tale of the West, and the holding up of the K. & A. train has no parallel in all railroad history. The story is told in first-class style and the exciting incidents that follow the "hold-up" move almost as rapidly as an express train. It is bound to be widely and appreciatively read.
